Manchester Arts presents a new exhibition Worth a Thousand Words from September 5 – October 24 that features the works of illustrators and graphic designers. An Opening Reception will be held Friday, September 16 from 6-8 pm in the Manchester Arts Courtroom Gallery. Artworks presented will offer an interesting and comprehensive, wide-ranging review that showcases the breadth and scope of graphic design and illustrative art in the St. Louis region. The invited artists are professional graphic designers and illustration artists who work from varied viewpoints in the field. The exhibition is curated by Dion Dion, Visual Arts Chair, Manchester Arts Board of Directors, and René David Michel-Trapaga, Fine Arts & Digital Imaging Instructor, Maryville University.

Nine artists will be sharing 35 unique artworks. The exhibiting artists include: Eric DeFord, John Dyess, Chuck Groth, Lauren Marx, Dallas Moses, Vidhay Nagaragan, Mark Oakely, Doug Peters and Bill Vivrett (an original Founder of Manchester Arts.)
